Students From MTS To Be In Music Festival

Approximately 90 students from four high schools will attend this year's Quad State String Orchestra festival to be held on the Murray State campus Monday, Jan. 21.

Prof. Josiah Darnall will conduct the non-competitive festival, sponsored by the college to encourage string players in Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois and Missouri.

The all-day program will commence with a rehearsal in the Recital hall of the Fine Arts building at 9 a.m. and will conclude with a concert and broadcast at 7 p.m.

Schools which are scheduled to participate are Murray Training School, Benton High School, Madisonville High School, and Harrisburg (Ill.) High School. The music to be used in the concert will consist of selections from F. Muller's Melody Time Orchestra Folio.

Sullins Listed As Thirteenth In Nation On Rebounds

Quiltman Sullins, Murray State's moody center, is listed 13th in the nation on rebounding percentage according to the latest figures released by the NCAA.

The Arkansas Splinter has latched on to 175 rebounds out of a total of 968 in 13 games involving the Racers and their opponents, for an average of 18.1.

The big guy also leads Murray on offense with 206 points and a 15.8 games average. Three other regulars are hitting in double figures — Terry Darnell, 12.6; Geraff Tabor, 11; and Sherill Marginet, 10.5.

Tabor and Darnell are more accurate in the field goal department, each cashing in on 48 per cent of their shots. The former and Frank Waggoner are tied for the best free throw percentage at 80.

McNeely Hits For 39 Over Hazel

Lynn Grove put on a scoring display last night in downing Hazel 87 to 50. Tommy McNeely paced the victorious Wildcats with 39 points.

McNeely hit 42 per cent of his field goal attempts as he led the way. The Cats jumped to an early lead and were never headed.

Hope Queen Will Bring Family To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (U.P.) — American officials said today they hope if Queen Elizabeth visits the United States she will make it a family affair and bring the children.

If she does, eight-year old Prince Charles and six-year old Princess Anne possibly would play and romp with President Eisenhower's grandchildren — on the White House lawn. They might even go to the President's Gettysburg, Pa., farm for a taste of old-fashioned American farm life.

The United States has asked if the queen would like to visit America again. The United States suggested October.

London sources said Friday the queen is considering the informal invitation but probably will not make a decision until her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, returns from his round-the-world trip next month.

Agricultural Group Meets On Thursday

The Agricultural Council met in regular session Thursday night, January 10, with Leroy Eldridge presiding.

Mancel Vinson, Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture and Otis Patton, Fieldman for the marketing division for the State Department of Agriculture, explained the new egg law to regular members of the council and representatives of the whole-sale and retail trade in Calloway County.

A number of caged egg-producers were also in attendance. The council believes the new egg law will do much to improve the quality of our eggs and stimulate consumer confidence in buying.

Aged Woman Wanders From Home, Found

Mrs. Eula Paschall age about 70, wandered away from her home near Crossland yesterday about 4:30 and apparently became lost.

Members of the Murray Rescue Squad, the Paris Rescue Squad, and neighbors searched a wide area and she was finally located on the back porch of a neighbor about five miles from her home.

Members of the squad said that she had gone through woods, fields and hollows.

This Week's Balance Sheet In The Hot And Cold Wars

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet.

Anthony Eden, victim of his own invasion of the Suez Canal zone, resigned as prime minister of Great Britain. He was succeeded by his friend Harold Macmillan, who had served him as chancellor of the exchequer and who supported his Suez policy in a split cabinet.

President Eisenhower sought quick congressional approval of his plan — the Eisenhower Doctrine — to use American forces in event of armed Communist aggression against a Middle Eastern country.

Soviet Russia and its puppet leaders in Eastern Europe hardened their policy in an attempt to stop the trend toward "independent Communism."

Eden's resignation after a distinguished parliamentary career of more than 30 years was a personal tragedy. He cited bad health as the reason. But there was no doubt that it also was due to the British-French attack on Suez.

This action angered President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. It brought British-American relations to the lowest point in many years. It brought the condemnation of the United Nations. It split the British cabinet. In addition, the military operation itself was a failure.

The British-French hope of unseating President Gamal Abdel Nasser was strengthened, not weakened. The closing of the canal when Nasser scuttled ships in it was a severe blow to British economy.

French Premier Guy Mollet, who joined Eden in the Suez attack, was not affected. Nasser's open support of the nationalist rebels in Algeria, as well as his seizure of the Suez Canal, had made him France's enemy No. 1.

The Eisenhower Doctrine was the outgrowth of the Suez situation, including Russia's determined attempt to penetrate the Middle East. Nasser does not like the Eisenhower plan. By soliciting Russian arms which he cannot afford, he is mortgaging his country's future. But in his fanatical hatred of British-French "imperialism" Nasser does not seem to mind the danger he runs of becoming a Russian puppet.

Russian and E. & S. German Communist leaders conferred in Moscow. Their talks resulted in a decision to maintain a harsh Stalinist rule in that splinter country in hope of suppressing opposition. In Hungary, puppet Premier János Kadar steadily hardened his policy in an attempt to prevent a new outbreak of revolt.

Firemen Called To Tobacco Barn Today

Firemen were called this morning at 8:55 o'clock to the C. C. Farmer Tobacco Company, when oil started leaking from an oil heater. The oil was burning beneath the heater on a metal sheet, and was extinguished with carbon dioxide.

No damage was reported by Fire Chief Flavil Robertson.

Annual Murray Sub-District School Set

The annual Murray Sub-District Training School will be held Jan. 20-25 at the First Methodist Church here in Murray. This school is for the benefit of the 30 Sunday Schools in this area.

There are four courses being taught in the school. Three of the courses are for specific groups of people: The children's division of the church is taught by Miss Peggy Parish of Jackson, Tenn.

The church's program for inter-mediate is taught by Mrs. E. J. Diggs of Covington, Tenn.; and the course for young people is "Finding Your Life Work" by Rev. H. J. Burkett, District Superintendent of the Dyersburg District.

The fourth course is a general course for all people not included in the three above mentioned classes. This course is "The Book of Revelation" taught by Dr. V. Dunn, Jackson, Tenn. This class promises to be the largest class taught in any training school of this area. Dr. Dunn is known to many of this area and is most capable of teaching this interesting course on the most mysterious book of the New Testament, yet one of the most enlightening.

The public is encouraged to register early for these courses. The minister of the local Methodist church has the registration card. The first class begins Sunday afternoon, January 20, at 2:00 p.m.

Actress Rests In Secret Hideaway

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (U.P.) — Actress Marie McDonald rested in the seclusion of a secret hideaway today as police checked out their first clue in the strange kidnapping case.

The 33-year-old actress left her home in nearby Encino sometime Friday afternoon with an unidentified friend.

The blonde beauty's physician said he ordered Miss McDonald to take a rest because she was "highly nervous and exhausted."

Police in Anaheim, a city in nearby Orange County, had notified Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker two men who may have abducted the actress were seen there last Saturday a few hours after Miss McDonald was kidnapped from her home.

Parker had appealed to the public for information about two "zoo-suited" men, apparently of Mexican descent, who bought turkey sandwiches which Miss McDonald said she ate while a captive.

An unidentified Anaheim informant said two men answering the actress's description bought sandwiches at the Buena Park Drive-In early Saturday.

Miss McDonald's trip to her hideaway, forced cancellation of an appearance on television Friday night, she intended to ask the public to help locate her abductors.

Murray Boy Expected To Aid Squad

Sodie Carraway, former Murray High School student, was pictured with teammates of Kentucky Military Institute's cage team recently over a story which appeared in a Venice, Fla., newspaper.

Young Carraway who had his athletic career at Murray halted because of a serious injury from an automobile wreck, is a junior at K.M.I. which spends the winters in the Southern town for its education and military training.

This paragraph appeared in the story — "A five-foot, seven-inch performer, Sodie Carraway, who will remain ineligible until the second semester, is counted on to add plenty of speed to the Kaydet offense."

Regulations Covering Acreage Reserve Program Of Soil Bank Are Released Today. State Allocations Are Set Forth

Regulations covering the Acreage Reserve program of the Soil Bank for 1957 — the first full year of operation for this new agricultural legislation — were announced by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

"The new regulations embody several important changes and additions to those in effect for the emergency Acreage Reserve program of this year," Secretary Benson explained. "As will be recalled, the Soil Bank law became effective late in May 1956 — after most crops had been planted. However, the Department put the program in operation promptly, and the farmers placed slightly over 12 million acres of basic crops — wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts, and tobacco — in the 1956 Acreage Reserve. In spite of this relatively good start, we do not consider that this year's program was a fair trial of the surplus-reducing possibilities of the Soil Bank. We anticipate a much more successful program in 1957.

"Most of the changes that have been made are to insure producers a fair and equitable opportunity in the 1957 program. County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees will begin accepting 1957 Acreage Reserve agreements for corn, cotton, and tobacco, as early as possible in January. Farmers already have pledged over 10.5 million acres of winter wheat in the 1957 program for that crop."

"Among the more important provisions of the new regulations are the following:

1. A national allocation of 1957 Acreage Reserve funds, among the commodities to be covered in the 1957 program, provide that the acreage for any commodity placed in the Acreage Reserve by a farm shall not exceed that farm's allotment for the commodity. With this limitation, the maximum acreages that may be originally entered for a farm are wheat, 50 acres or 50 percent of the farm allotment, whichever is larger; corn, 20 acres or 30 percent of the allotment, whichever is larger; cotton, 10 acres or 30 percent of the allotment, whichever is larger; and barley, dark air-cured and fire-cured, 1 acre or 30 percent of the allotment, whichever is larger.

Applications for Acreage Reserve agreements are to be accepted within these limits by county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees on a "first come, first served" basis to the extent county funds are available. Farmers wishing to participate above maximum acreage limits for a particular crop must indicate this in their original agreement. If, after the sign-up for a crop has closed, funds are left over, or can be reallocated from another county, these additional acres will be accepted to the extent funds are available and within instructions to be issued.

Killer Of 44 Dies Calmly In Colorado Gas Chamber

CANON CITY, Colo., Jan. 21 (U.P.) — John Gilbert Graham, 24, paid for 44 lives with his own Friday night. He went calmly, at times jovially, to his death in Colorado's gas chamber at the state penitentiary.

The arrogance he had shown for all from the time he was arrested for dynamite-bombing a United Air Lines plane Nov. 1, 1955, was gone as he was strapped to the steel chair in the air-tight chamber.

He joked with Warden Harry Tinsley in his death house cell as he was leaving for the gas chamber. His last words, as the chamber door closed on him, were "Thanks, Warden."

Denise Bitterness
A few minutes earlier, he told his attorney, John Gibbons of Denver, it was not true he had been bitter toward his mother, who was one of those he killed for her insurance, and said he loved her and believed he would join her in eternity after his death.

He ate only the ice cream from a last meal which included a large steak, french fried potatoes, combination salad and fruit. He had the remainder given to other inmates.

He did not die easily, however. The prison physician said "he had a very tough heart." It was nine and one-half minutes from the time the cyanide gas fumes were released, at 9:57 p.m. EST, until his heart beat its last. He was pronounced dead one and one-half minutes later.

Objected to Appeal
No effort was made to save Graham after the state Supreme Court upheld his death sentence last October. Graham objected even to a Supreme Court appeal. Before he died Graham raised more confusion over whether any of his confessions were sincere.

He signed one confession for the FBI but later repudiated it. This week the minister who married him, Rev. Lloyd Kellams of a Denver suburb, said Graham twice confessed to him.

Gibbons said when he questioned Graham Friday about the last two confessions, Graham replied he had "told different stories to several people" and "this is the way I want to go, with only me actually knowing the truth."

Bill Solomon To Command GOC Group

William H. Solomon, executive officer of the newly organized Air Force Reserve Flight, has been appointed group commander of group number three of the Murray Ground Observer Corps by John Pasco, Post Supervisor and Mrs. J. I. Hosick, Chief Observer.

Group number three has been charged with the responsibility of operating the tower during the week of January 13 through 19 inclusive and every fourth week thereafter.

Sunday January 13, team 31, Lions Club, Richard Tuck, captain.

Monday January 14, team 32, Garden Department Murray-Womans Club, Mrs. Maurice Crass, Sr. captain.

Tuesday January 15, team 33, Delta Department, Mrs. John Whitwell, captain.

Wednesday January 16, team 34, Sigma Department, Mrs. Geo. Hallonah, captain.

Thursday January 17, team 35, Music Department, Mrs. Don Robinson, captain.

Friday January 18, team 36, PTA Murray High School, Owen Billington, captain.

Saturday January 19, team 37, Teen Age Group Observer Club, Murray High School, Roy Smith, captain.

A training course for observers will be held Thursday January 17 at 1:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. in the Calloway County Court House. Solomon urges all observers who have not received training to attend one of these sessions.

Cold Waves Brings Death To 43 Persons

BY UNITED PRESS
Wintry blasts howled past the Atlantic Coast today, leaving at least 43 persons dead in its wake, which extended over the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The ice-coated air, the coldest of the season, moved away from the central East Coast early today but its chilly fingers continued to send the mercury shivering down barometer scales in the Middle Atlantic states.

Residents from New England eastward through the Great Lakes were blessed with relief from the sub-zero wave. Parts of the Ohio and middle Mississippi Valleys also benefited from the warmer air. Temperatures scampered up as high as 30 degrees above the previous day's readings in some parts.

The Northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley were offered no relief from the long-underwear weather. Residents renewed their tussle with below-zero air, as it dropped a few degrees lower than Friday's temperatures. International Falls, Minn., was once again one of the coldest spots in the country with a nippy 16 degrees below zero.

Despite the warming trend, snow sprinkles were predicted for New England and the eastern Great Lakes area today. Snow was also expected to continue in the northern Rockies and over the Northern Plains states today.

Mullen Pass, Mont., was presented with a hearty helping of snow again Friday and today. A 24-hour accumulation of nine additional inches of snow jacked up the total depth to 66 inches.

A United Press survey showed that at least 43 deaths were due to the frosty weather since last Wednesday night. Illinois topped the list with 15 fatalities. Nebraska, Indiana and Iowa tied for second with five each; there were four in Idaho, three in both New York and Massachusetts, and one each in Michigan, New Mexico and Vermont.

IS YARD-STICK SLIPPING?

Thirty of the 149 municipal co-ops buying power from TVA had to reduce rates last year due to surplus created by net profits, after taxes paid local governments. Others will reduce rates this year.

In contrast to this declining rate structure in the Tennessee Valley the Arkansas Power and Light Company has filed a petition to increase rates next year approximately one and a half million dollars.

Since establishment of municipal co-ops to distribute TVA power the system in this area has served as a "yardstick" for privately-owned systems in the South with the result that all consumers have enjoyed low rates during the post-war boom period.

Increasing labor and material costs, plus heavy income and excess profits taxes, are taking their toll from the revenues of privately-owned electric companies; however, so the "yardstick" is not proving as effective as it once did.

Enemies of TVA like to make it appear the authority is mis-managed, but the opposite comes nearer being true. Only recently when the price of coal increased TVA increased its rates to large industrial users accordingly.

What the enemies of TVA have never been able to understand is that it is operated to give preference to the small consumer. When rates are reduced the domestic consumer gets first consideration, not the industry using millions of kw.

It is a New Deal measure, one of the few that planned out. Most New Deal measures purposely aided low-income families and TVA has made an outstanding success because it has been efficiently and honestly managed, and municipal co-ops have operated in a straight-jacket that prevents the use of profits for political purposes.

It was inevitable that privately-owned utilities would have to increase rates while TVA may continue to reduce them. Electricity happens to be one of the few things the public can provide more economically for itself. And as time goes by demand for other public power systems will increase.

Two Unbeaten Teams Expect Easy Pickings Tonight

By TIM MORIARTY

United Press Sports Writer
Kansas and North Carolina, the nation's only major unbeaten college basketball teams, expect easy pickings again tonight when they place their imposing records on the line against conference opponents.

The top-ranked Jayhawks go after their 12th straight victory of the season against Kansas State in a Big Seven Conference game on their home court. Kansas won its first four games including an upset 84-77 verdict over Indiana, but then dropped four straight to Minnesota, Iowa, Oklahoma and Iowa State.

North Carolina's New York-born Tarheels registered their 13th straight victory Friday night by whipping Clemson 54-41 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. They meet Virginia, another conference "patsy," tonight at Chapel Hill.

Six other members of the United Press top 10 also have conference engagements.

Kentucky, No. 3, visits Louisiana State. Southern Methodist No. 4, meets Texas Christian on the Horned Ranges home court. UCLA No. 6, concludes its weekend series with Washington State at Los Angeles. Oklahoma A&M, No. 8, visits Houston. Vanderbilt, No. 9, is at Mississippi, and Illinois, No. 10, is at Wisconsin.

Other games involving rated teams: St. Francis' (Ind.) at Fresno State, Wake Forest hosts South Carolina, Brigham Young visits Wyoming, Duke entertains Clemson, St. Louis is at Detroit, and St. Vincent, and Manhattan plays Navy at Madison Square Garden.

Columbia led by Chet Forte's 38 points, dumped Harvard out of first place in the Ivy League Friday night by defeating the Cantabs, 80-61, while Temple turned back Georgetown (Pa.), 80-51.

Colgate edged Boston University, 55-54; Duquesne nipped Cincinnati, 60-58; and St. Joseph's (Pa.) beat Westminster, 75-53.

The Braves signed rookie catcher Carl Sawatski, who hit .240 for the Yankees in the 1956 season. His two-run homer proved the winning blow in the third game of the World Series, turning the tide in favor of the Yankees for the first time when Brooklyn seemed on the way to the title.

Other signings were announced today by Milwaukee, Detroit and the Chicago Cubs.

Giants Sadly Accept Fact Of Retirement

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 11.—Some of the saddest moments of Jackie Robinson's life came at the right place at the right time.

Responsible authorities have said that if Warren Dea Thomas had not been in the great ape house of the Columbus Zoo on or about 8:45 p.m. EST last Dec. 22 — and acted as he did — the first gorilla ever born in captivity probably would have perished just after birth.

A gorilla, like man, is of the order of mammals called primates. And, like man, he is in some respects a queer duck. He lives — with perhaps 20,000 of his kind, a dwindling stock — in the forested West African Cameroons. If he is taken away, he just doesn't feel right. He gets depressed, filled with anxieties, stress eating bad diets.

Adults Pests Threat
That's one reason why adult gorillas aren't captured. Another is that an adult — some 500 pounds of awful muscle — poses the threat on noise from Africa, of erupting from its cage, plucking the air from its lungs, and daisy and stewing — then — upon the ocean. Only babies are captured.

Gorillas won't — or didn't — until two got together here in 1954 — mate. Captivity All but one of the big gorillas that have died in captivity has been declared on autopsy to be sexually immature. Some were more than 20 years old. Some experts believed gorillas under 20 could not reproduce. That theory was torpedoed by the present proud parents, Baron, 11, and Christine, 8.

Thomas, 26, a native of Columbus and father of a 13-month-old daughter, had worked at the zoo part time for 14 years. He has a zoology degree from Ohio State and is in his second school year in veterinary medicine. He knew that zoo men everywhere were anxious about Christine.

Christine's Face Calm
He was on Christmas vacation and working in the ape-house keeper's absence. About 8:20 a.m. he delivered Christine's food. She did not eat. She was in her chute, a rest cage about 4½ feet above her main cage floor. A few minutes later he observed her standing normally (on feet and hand knuckles) in the chute. Her face was calm.

Less than two minutes later, he returned with some hard-boiled eggs and found her, still in chute, looking at the cage floor. There lay the baby, still in its translucent, white, embed Drake, 37-41, Elgin Baylor's 18 points helped touring Seattle to a 70-59 triumph over Oklahoma City; California whipped Oregon, 53-46, to remain unbeaten in the Pacific Coast Conference; Santa Clara spanked College of Pacific, 79-49; Rice beat Texas, 76-66; Wyoming hustled to an 86-78 victory over Utah State; Nevada trounced deflated S a n Francisco, 98-79, and UCLA registered its 30th straight PCC victory by dumping Washington State, 87-65.

The Dec. 13 deal in which the Giants thought they acquired Robinson from the Brooklyn Dodgers for an estimated $30,000 and pitcher Dick Littlefield will become void as soon as Giles bases on Robinson's request.

Robinson's decision was a severe blow to the Giants, who hoped the fiery, controversial star would prove a tonic against their slumping game and also be capable of playing about 119 games at first base next season.

The Giants' regular first baseman, Willie Mays, has been drafted by the Army. The Giants' officials made a secret of the fact that they must now attempt to swing another deal but did not indicate the player or players they are after.

Informed sources believe they will make offers for both Bobby Thomson of the Milwaukee Braves and Frank Thomas of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Detroit boosted its total to 18 signed with pacts from center fielder Bill Tuttle, who hit .253 last year, and first baseman Earl Forgy, who batted .264.

The Cubs made it 12 in line with contracts from catcher Ray East, .237 hitter who was obtained from St. Louis last month in the big seven-man trade, and shortstop K. C. Wise, rookie up from Los Angeles where he batted .287 and was on the Pacific Coast League All-Star team.

Pinsetting Machine Is Tax Problem
CHICAGO — Automatic pinsetting machines installed in bowling alleys have been something of a headache for the tax assessor. One of the two manufacturers of the machines while the other states that the machines are not taxable.

According to the National Association of Assessing Officers, the direct sales have made valuation and assessment a simpler matter.

In the case of the rented machines, the association said a typical lease agreement calls for a term of 10 or 12 years, and a rental charge between 10 and 12 cents a line with a given minimum per year.

This comes to about $1,000 per machine. The association said the manufacturer has put the cost of the machine at between $2,000 and $2,500.

Machines sold outright vary in price between $7,000 and $8,000 installed.

Assessors queried by the association estimated the full value of the rented machines at anywhere from $1,500 to $15,000. The low estimate was based on the cost of manufacture less the cost of equipment replaced.

Louisa, seat of Lawrence County, was named for Louisa, Duchess of Cumberland. During the Napoleonic Wars thousands of "bear" skins were collected in the Big Sandy and Kanawha Rivers and shipped to Europe where they became the nappees for Napoleon's hussars.

THE GUYS are Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, the doll is Anita Ekberg, the scene is from Hal Wallis' "HOLLYWOOD OR BUST," which is in color and VistaVision, and starts a three-day engagement at the Varsity Theatre tomorrow.

Special Donations Made At Meeting Of Woodmen Circle

The Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle held its regular meeting at the Murray Woman's Club House on Thursday, January 10, at seven-thirty o'clock in the evening with a very good attendance.

Mrs. Genora Hamlett, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Oneda Boyd.

The grove voted to donate $117 for welfare and relief organizations. Mrs. Lois Waterfield, local treasurer, was authorized to issue the following checks: $50, United Fund; $25, Red Cross; $12, Woodmen Circle Golden Welfare Club; $10, Kentucky Society of Gospel Children; $10, March of Dimes; $10, Hungarian Relief.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. B. Wall Melugin who was recently declared a member of the President's Club of the society. Mrs. Melugin had all field workers in Kentucky in production during the year of 1956. She was not only top producer in personal business but her district led all others in the state in the amount of business written.

Plans were discussed for the state convention to be held in April at Bowling Green. The date for the Grove inspection was set for the next regular meeting in February.

The Officers will meet at the home of Mrs. Martha Carter in February.

Mom, Try This On Stubbish Junior

FARGO, N. D. — Don't resort to pleading bribery or strong arm tactics to force a child to eat, says Ruth Dawson, extension nutritionist, North Dakota Agricultural College.

"Good food offered in a friendly, matter of fact way without urging, helps children develop good eating habits early in life," Miss Dawson said.

By the time boys and girls are 10 years old, their protein needs equal those of a grown man, she said. "That's why it is vitally important your children develop good eating habits early."

Miss Dawson warned that eating between meals, hurried meals or irregular meals may mean malnutrition or overweight problems.

"Take time to eat," she said. "Good food is necessary to keep the body functioning properly."

[Sunday School Lesson]

By Dr. H. C. Chiles

Christ's ministry was heralded in the preaching of His forerunner, John the Baptist. At His baptism He was anointed for that ministry, and in the testing in the wilderness His fitness for that ministry was demonstrated. — I. The Baptism of Jesus Christ, Matthew 3:16-17.

"And Jesus, when He was baptized, went up straightaway out of the water." His baptism was at a definite time and for a definite purpose. Baptism is a picture of death, burial and resurrection. Going down into the water presents the picture of death and burial, and arising out of the water presents the resurrection.

Thus, as Christ sank beneath the baptismal waters, He prefigured the death which He was to die upon the cross when all the billions of God's wrath against sin should roll over Him, and as He arose from beneath the water our needs, His resurrection is legitimate, but Satan asked Christ to do it in the wrong way by making use of His newly announced Sonship. Instead of arguing with the devil, which in itself would have been an error, Christ merely answered him from God's Word.

In the second case, Satan tried to get Christ to put God's keeping power to the test by jumping from one of the wings of the temple, and expecting God to protect Him from any injury. In the event that God did protect Him, Satan implied that Christ would then be the Messiah.

Wrestling it from its setting, Satan quoted scripture in support of his suggestion that the Lord Jesus presume on the grace of God by casting Himself from the temple into their midst. From Christ's refusal we learn that it is right to trust God, but that it is wrong to make presumptuous experiments in order to discover how far God can be trusted.

Having failed in both attempts Satan came out boldly in his true colors and sought to get Christ to render to him "at worship" which belongs to God alone. He offered Him supreme earthly power and glory without the expense of suffering and death. He tempted Him to forsake the way of the cross and to gain the control of the world by disobedience to God. Again, our Lord resisted temptation by the Word of God. He said, "Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."

Three times Satan sharply assailed the Master. He malignantly determined to bring Him into subjection to his own wicked will, if at all possible. However, he made a miserable failure. He was unable to stand before the incisive power of God's Word, so he fled.

In His victory over Satan, our Lord's method involved the three-fold principle of all triumph over Satan—namely, absolute dependence on God, accompanied by absolute faith in God, and reinforced by absolute obedience to God. If we will follow His example, we also will be triumphant.

II. The Temptations of Jesus Christ, Matthew 4:1-11.
Immediately after His baptism, Christ Jesus was led by the Holy Spirit into the wilderness for the purpose of being tempted. Temptation is solicitation to do wrong. Temptation is not sin, but yielding to temptation is sin. Temptation is the common lot of all.

Photographers Win Contest

NEW YORK — Dramatic action pictures by alert on-the-spot photographers won all three prizes in the monthly United Press newspaper contest for December. Editor Harold Blumenthal announced.

First prize of $25 went to United Press string photographer Vic Cooley, of Nashville, Tenn., for his series of exclusive pictures of the rescue of a 24-year-old mother and her baby after she had jumped 90 feet from a bridge into the Cumberland River with the child in her arms.

Cooley, who drove past the scene just after the young mother jumped, made dramatic pictures of the mother and child in the water and the rescue as it proceeded until both were brought ashore. The pictures were exclusive to United Press' Telephoto and Unifax clients.

Prizes of $10 each went to Gordon Peters, San Francisco Chronicle staff photographer, and Paul Presbrey, Minneapolis Star & Tribune staff reporter photographer.

Although several photographers were on hand at the San Francisco Ferry building to shoot the arrival of singer Mary Gray, only Peters caught the helicopter plunging into the water seconds after Miss Gray disembarked. The drama of his picture was enhanced by the smiling face of a man in the foreground, unaware of the tragedy occurring behind him.

Presbrey, who "sleeps with one ear on the police radio," was on the scene when police interrupted three men attempting to burglarize a supermarket and his camera caught one of the men starting up at the barrels of police pistols and flashlight beams as he was flushed from his hiding place under a counter.

The monthly United Press newspaper contest is open to newspaper and television photographers, free lance and amateurs everywhere as well as to U. P. stringers and staffers. Any picture accepted for the service is entered automatically in the contest and prizes are in addition to standard fees paid to non-staffers.

"General Electric Theater," film, has no plans for more live programs after the first of the year.

Octopus in the Farm Granary . . . Pipes, Motors Take Over Feed Problem

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau Gravity flow pipes connecting storage bins to electrical equipment are rapidly becoming part and parcel of many a farmer's churning setup. Fanning out in all directions, they give work areas of granaries an octopus-like appearance.

operates in conjunction with a floor dump conveyor which receives small grain from field wagons. Scooping is out because front ends of wagons are tipped up by a hoist to allow grain to flow out of end gates. Ear corn is dumped into side bins via portable elevator from outside the granary. Entry is through wall

The above picture, for example, shows a Virginia Cattle feeder who has turned over practically all of his feed processing jobs to mechanical equipment—and the ever-present pipes. Machinery and building cost him $4,700, but they save him thousands of dollars each year in time and non-existent labor costs. The granary has eight bins. Ear corn is stored in side bins and shelled corn, barley and oats in overhead bins. Since the floors of side bins slant toward the front, ear corn flows out bottom gates for movement by portable conveyor to the sheller. Shelled corn is moved by the 500-bushel overhead stationery elevator—the same elevator which also conveys barley and oats to adjacent bins. The unit openings—closed by spring lock doors when not in use. Ground or crimped grain is re-elevated through a blower pipe attached to the grinder. It is deposited in overhead bins not used for storage of whole grain. Gravity flow pipes are connected to all bins so that whole grain can be dropped to the corn sheller, grinder or crimper, and also to permit re-elevated ground feed to be dumped into feed carts. Gates at the bottom of the pipes control the flow of grain. Electric power is plentiful and is economically. A 5 horsepower motor operates the crimper, as well as the floor dump conveyor, stationery elevator and wagon hoist. The grinder and corn sheller are operated by the same 5 1/2 horsepower motor.
